DEAD MAN'S CELL PHONE

NOVEMBER 11-27, 2021

By Sarah Ruhl
Director Fran Gebhard

When a cell phone will not stop ringing at the café table next to her, Jean's inclination to answer it launches her into the complicated personal lives of a dead man's brother, his wife, and his mistress. This loopy and sometimes otherworldly odyssey becomes a wake-up call, forcing Jean to confront her own assumptions, and ultimately realize that life is for the living.

From the multi-award-winning playwright of Eurydice, The Clean House, and In the Next Room (or the Vibrator Play), Sarah Ruhl's wildly imaginative comedy blends quirkiness with soul, reminding us of the importance of connection in a world more and more isolated by technology.

Advisory: Coarse language.

Presented by arrangement with Concord Theatricals on behalf of Samuel French, Inc. www.concordtheatricals.com

All shows are suitable for ages 13+

THE WASTE LAND

FEBRUARY 17 - 26, 2022

Adapted from the poem by T.S. Eliot Director & Choreographer

Conrad Alexandrowicz

T.S. Eliot's landmark modernist poem will be adapted for the stage by director and physical theatre maker Conrad Alexandrowicz, who teaches movement for actors in the department.

Published in 1922, The Waste Land bears witness to the physical and emotional devastation caused by the First World War and the global influenza pandemic. The poem evolves over five cryptically titled sections that use rapidly shifting images, multiple voices and vignettes to arrive at a kind of eulogy for social values now erased by the twin catastrophes of war and disease. But Eliot's work, while steeped in disillusionment, also points to humanity's hope for redemption. The text fuses different literary forms and traditions, referencing works from the Bible to Hindu and Buddhist texts, Shakespeare and the Arthurian legend of the Holy Grail. Awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1948, Eliot is considered one of the most daring innovators of 20th century poetry.

SHAKESPEARE'S WOMEN

MARCH 17-26, 2022

By William ShakespeareEdited by Libby Appel & Michael Flachmann
Guest Director Dean Gabourie

On the garden terrace of a majestic chateau, the greatest couples from Shakespeare's canon waltz out of an elegant ballroom and into our contemporary perspective to be reconsidered through a modern-day lens. Weaving together momentous scenes from some of the Bard's most significant plays, Shakespeare's Women shifts our gaze to revisit the familiar through the eyes of his most memorable female characters, including Ophelia, Olivia and Viola, Isabella, Rosalind, Beatrice, Katherine and Cleopatra. The result portrays women "in all their infinite variety"—powerful, passionate, merciful, false, gallant, loving, desperate, beloved, lonely, mournful, and victorious reminding us that Shakespeare has gifted us with characters that are not stuck in the past, but are the heroines we still need today.

Guest director Dean Gabourie brings years of experience from the Stratford Festival and a passion for addressing issues of social significance with his ACME Theatre to reaffirm the importance of Shakespeare's plays in our time.

Welcome back to the Phoenix...
