Orion Series in Fine Arts

Peter Golub, composer

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17 | 1–3:45 PM | Free admission

Music and Emotion: A Composer's Perspective

Golub discusses the links between music and emotion from a composer's perspective, deriving from his experience in writing music for film and theatre.

This will include his hypotheses about whether evoked emotional responses to music are learned or intrinsic.

Rm. B120, MacLaurin Building, B-Wing

Lecture: FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 18 | 11:30 AM–12:30 PM | Free admission

Music Technology Meets Hollywood: How technology has transformed the work of a composer

Golub discusses the use of technology and audio engineering in film and television, how the art has been transformed by technology, and where it is going.

He will also discuss his work as the Director of the Sundance Film Music Program.
